MEDICINAL

Mirth is an almost infallible sign of good health. A sick woman may force a smile or at times be moved to laughter. But when a woman is bubbling over with mirth and merriment she is surely a well woman.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength. It establishes regularity and so does away with monthly misery. It dries debilitating drains and so cures the cause of much womanly weakness. It heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures the bearing-down pains, which are such a source of suffering to sick women.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for female weakness," writes Mrs. Susanah Permenter, of Painesville, Ohio, Co., Ohio. "I was troubled with bearing-down pains in my back and hips for six years, and I wrote to Doctor Pierce for advice. I tried his 'Favorite Prescription' and six bottles cured me. I feel like a new person and I thank Dr. Pierce for my health. Life is a burden to me now without health. I have told a great many of my friends about the great medicine I took."

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO CANADA.

The visit of the Duke of Cornwall and York to Canada excites profound interest among the people of the Dominion, though its political significance is likely to be exaggerated by ceremonial orators in the course of his tour of the provinces. It should, however, to a considerable degree strengthen the ties of sentiment by which the loyalists are bound to the person of the heir apparent and through him to the Crown as an institution.

It is more than forty years since Canada welcomed the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII, to its shores. He was then a youth of 19, while his son and heir to the throne is 38. Although his tour lasted for two months and his tour through Canada was a continuous ovation, his itinerary took him over a much smaller part of the Dominion than is included in the programme outlined for the Duke of Cornwall and York. The opportunities for travel and display are so much greater than they were in 1860 that the Duke will necessarily carry home with him a far greater conception of the richness and extent of the British colony in America than his father did.

No ruling King of England has ever set foot on Canadian soil, and only two of them have traveled so far from home before their accession to the throne, although members of the royal family have been by no means rare visitors to the Dominion. The first of the royal visitors to Canada was Prince William Henry, arrived in 1786, while commander of the frigate Pegasus and paid a visit to Montreal and Quebec. In 1791 the Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria and great-grandfather of the present Duke of Cornwall and York, went to Quebec as commander of a royal regiment. Sixty years passed before another prince of the reigning dynasty, the present King, came to Canada. In the meantime the provinces of Canada had been reunited and a more liberal system of colonial government conceded to the colony by the home government. Following the Prince of Wales, Prince Alfred, later Duke of Edinburgh, then a midshipman in the British navy, made a flying visit in 1891, and in 1896 Prince Arthur, now Duke of Connaught, came to Canada as an officer in an imperial regiment. No member of the royal family, however, became so endeared to the Canadian people by sojourn among them as the Marchioness of Lorne, whose husband, now Duke of Argyll, was appointed Governor General of the Dominion in 1878. The Canadians as a mass are so well satisfied with their own administration of public affairs that they are not likely to be won over easily by such ardent imperialists as Sir John G. Bourne, who would have them surrender some part of their independence for the sake of gaining a nominal representation in Parliament. [N. Y. Tribune.]

THE COUNTRY PRESS.—Captain Wm B. Lynch may be properly called the Nestor of the country press. For fifty years he has edited the Washingtonian at Leesburg and happily, "made his stake" when the daily papers were not of a greater size than the Washingtonian is now, and was there; before key hole reporters were at a premium and when a woman's name was as sacred as her lips, and before the inflammatory, anarchistic, lustful reading had been whetted to a keen edge by the yellow journals. Captain Lynch has passed through the best period of the country press. Today there are in Virginia, in our opinion, but six country papers which approximate a fair return for the work which is put on them. All the balance, and they make a multitude, are in a long line with no real place in the way and at the end—nothing. [Washingtonian.]

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S ROBES.—Queen Alexandra's coronation robes will, it is expected, soon be in course of preparation. So many years have passed since a Queen Consort was crowned that records and precedents have had to be consulted in regard to the type of robe a Queen Consort must wear. Quite recently the robes of Queen Adelaide, Consort of William IV., were brought up from Scotland for the Queen's personal inspection. These robes, which are of black velvet trimmed with gold, with large sleeves, became a perquisite of the Duchess of Gordon, who was mistress of the robes in 1831. They were kept for some years at Gordon Castle, and afterward at Balmoral Lodge, and when the Duchess died she left them as an heirloom to her relative, Brodie of Brodie. The robes have since been preserved at Brodie Castle.

IN ROUND NUMBERS.—Not long ago a lady was giving a lecture. Her subject was the human figure, and the requirements in the way of proportion for beauty. She herself was of generous one may say unwieldy size, and her manner was supercilious and lofty. She was trying to demonstrate the reilive sizes of the limit as they really ought to be.

"For example," said she, "twice around my thumb"—she held it up—"once round my wrist; twice round my neck, once round my waist."

Here she paused, and a shrill voice from the audience exclaimed:

"Twice round your waist, once round Hyde Park!"

The lecturer hastily passed on to another branch of the subject. [London Answers.]

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure a Cough or Cold at once. Croup, Whooping Cough and Measles Cough without fail. Best for Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Grippe, Pneumonia, Consumption and Lung Affections. Gives quick, sure results. Price 25c Sold by Richard Gibson and all druggists.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

"I had long suffered from indigestion," writes J. A. LeDuc, of New York. "I had tried many preparations but never found anything that did me good until I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. One bottle cured me. A friend who had suffered similarly, but on the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. He is gaining fat and will soon be able to work. Before he had Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck. For sale by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.
